

streetwear

INTERNATIONAL STYLES today

HIROSHI FUJIWARA
"PUNK'S NOT DEAD"

RUMBLE59 DENIM WITHOUT A CAUSE

If you've been looking for some rockabilled accessories, but can't seem to get what you need, Rumble59 has something to offer up. Working off of the typical 50s and 60s Greaser look, this brand has combined traditional looks with contemporary designs. Check it: all jeans are stonewashed blue denim, pre-shrunk, straight-cut/boot-cut, and introduce a classical pinstriped stitching to every right rear pocket. As a side note to all the mechanically inclined, each pair of jeans comes with a shiny new wrench. If you're looking for a jacket, they've got two distinct designs, each coming in a high-quality stitched, full back pattern. The jackets are made to fit the typical working man's needs, including two large inside pockets and a left sleeve pocket. Look to the site for their cotton tees, available in both male and female versions, with a variety of embroidered designs. As a nicely added bonus, all orders come in a hot-branded wooden box. [jh]

www.rumble59.com

022 |

streetwear today IV | 2007